NEW GOVERNING COMMITTEE OF

Secretary Jacob W. Smith Re-Elected

-Features Relating to Indianapolis

Business and Shipments Discussed.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS.

The new governing committee of the Board of Trade met last evening for the first time. The retiring president, James A. Wildman, being out of the city, expressed, in a letter, his thanks for the courtesy shown him by the governors, and wished the new committee and offivers all possible good fortune. The election committee then reported the result of the recontest, after which the new p ident, George W. Sloan, assumed the chair. He addressed the meeting briefly, thanking the governors for the honor conferred Secretary Jacob W. Smith was re-elected without opposition, although it had been understood that C. E. Hall would be a candidate. His name was not put in nomination, however. The grain committee reported 1-commending the re-election of Edward Dunn and John M. Heiner, respectively, as chief and assistant grain inspectors for the ensuing year. The recommendation was adopted. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Wildman for his good work as presiding officer during the past year, after which the committee adjourned to the Grand Hotel where, upon invitation of President Sloan, the members were his guests at a modest lunch. Thirty, out of a total membership of forty-three, were present last night, indicating a healthy interest in the affairs of the board. Of the absentees a number were out of the city. After the lunch, which was served in the dining room of the Grand Hotel, there was an hour or more of speech-making. D. P. Erwin opened the ball at President Sloan's request and talked in favor of the board suporting the amendments to the interstate-commerce law. He thought the grain trade of this city was looking up judging from the grain committee's report and that it could not be possible, therefore, that the interstate-commerce act had done so much evil in this direction as had been supposed. evil in this direction as had been supposed.

Mr. Erwin referred to the public park question as an important one left over for the new board of governors to handle.

Justus C. Adams followed with a few jovial remarks and Mayor Denny said he was glad to hear the board urged to take up city affairs and hoped that such matters would be prominent features of the work this year. I. S. Gordon thought the Board of Trade in exceptionally good shape to take up matters of importance to the city.
He was heartly in favor of parks and referred to a recent visit to Detroit, where he was driven over Belle isle, one of the ferred to a recent visit to Detroit, where he was driven over Belle isle, one of the prettiest parks in the country. Central Park, New York, he said, had cost that city nothing at all, because the improved property around it paid increased taxes enough to reimburse the municipal government ten times over for the outlay in keeping up the park. Mr. Gordon also thought the board should re-establish the freight bureau and put it in charge of Secretary bureau and put it in charge of Secretary Smith and his assistant. This bureau, he said, conducted in that way, would prove a big benefit to the shippers.

John S. Lazarus also strongly advocated this latter proposition and said that Indianapolis paid relatively 25 per cent. higher freight rates than Chicago because the proper efforts were not made to correct this injustice.

Gen. R. S. Foster joilled his fellow members in a few words, and Edward Hawkins took up the park question by suggesting that the Board of Trade get up an ordinance fixing a small levy for such purpose. He believed the levy should run from four to seven years, the money to go into the city treasury as a park fund, and a committee from the Board of Trade to act in conjunction with the Board of Public Works in carrying out the purchase and improvement of land for the purpose. and improvement of land for the purpose. He said the money would have to be raised by taxation and not by donation, and that a small levy would never be felt. He believed in having an ordinance drawn without delay and was certain that everywould favor it. W. H. Cooper suggested that the city might advantageously take up a nata-torium scheme.

M. A. Woollen made a vigorous attack on the interstate-commerce law and said on the interstate-commerce law and said that Mr. Erwin had been misled in supposing that the Indianapolis grain trade was not practically killed by that act. He also assailed the freight weighing association, and said that it was possible to get freight from points west of this city to the seaboard for less rates than those paid here. The weighing association, he said, put the highest possible weight on everything and shoved freight into the highest class. It was a Chicago institution and was used, he said, in every way to hurt Indianapolis as a shipping point. tion and was used, he said, in every way to hurt Indianapolis as a shipping point. He said the Board of Trade ought to go to work aggressively to put down such evils and he was willing to do his share of the work. His remarks were heartily applauded. After Mr. Woollen's talk the meeting adjourned.

ASAFFRON-HUEDGAME

INDIANAPOLIS WINS A VERY POOR-LY PLAYED CONTEST.

Grand Rapids Does a Shade Worse Work, Take It All in All, and Finishes One Run Behind.

Indianapolis played a "rocky" game of ball yesterday and won it-a combination more satisfactory than the usual thing. The thousand people who were out were nervous during the entire nine innings, and with very good reason, because when the Grand Rapids men were not ahead they were within easy call, and the game was in doubt right up to the finish. Cross pitched well, but was poorly supported, much of the bad backing not appearing on the face of the returns. The visitors earned but one of their ten runs, while Indianapolis earned six off Killeen, although the visitors' error column is a worse looking one than that of the home team. In the sixth inning, when Indianapolis was piling up runs, Dalrymple's bad base running aided in putting a stop to an elegant prospect. If ever a man deserved a fine he did for being caught at third on Gray's single. Shields, too, should be relieved of a little salary for holding the ball so long in the fourth inning that Caruthers was called safe at first by Umpire McDonald, a questionable decision, which cost three runs and aroused the ire of the crowd. Had Shields made his throw promptly the trouble would all have been averted.

With one out in the first, Henry hit safe to right, stole second, reached third on Motz's sacrifice, and was batted in by Dalrymple, who hit a grounder across second base. The latter stole second base and was brought home by Gray's three-bagger to right. Gray scored on Caruthers's fumble of Mills's grounder. The visitors dld not allow the crowd very long in which to revel in this lead. Wheelock hit an easy one. which Mills fumbled. Carroll forced him out at second, and Caruthers was retired at first. Wright got a base on balls, and Spies followed with a single, scoring Carroll. Callopy hit a long fly to right, which misjudged, another which does not appear in error column, where it comes near belonging. This scratch three-base hit brought in two runs, and Pinckney's single to left made up the fourth. Watkins struck out. The game ran along this way until the fourth inning, when, after Watkins had gone out on strikes, Killeen hit safe to right and Wheelock got a base on balls. Carroll was retired on a foul fly, but Caruthers hit to Shields, who looked at second as if to throw the ball there and finally threw to Motz, making the play close enough to cause the umpire to call the runner safe. It looked like an out and there was a howl of indignation. With the bases filled, Wright hit safe to left, Leidy allowing the ball to get away from him, and three runs came in. Spies flew out to Dalrymple. In the fifth the home team went to work to overcome the home team went to work to overcome this lead. Murphy got a base on balls and Henry sacrificed. Callopy fumbled Motz's grounder and Dalrymple scratched a hit past Wheelock, which bounded over the latter's head. Gray followed with a single to left, the result of all this being two runs. Mills hit into Wheelock's hands and succeeded in doubling Gray with him. It was in the sixth that Indianapolis made enough runs to win the game. Leidy led enough runs to win the game. Leidy led off with a safe hit and Shields scratched out a little single. Wheelock fumbled Cross's grounder, enabling Leidy to score. Murphy then hit for a single and Henry for a double, bringing in two more runs. for a double, bringing in two more runs. Motz hit to Wheelock, who threw Murphy out at the plate, and would have been caught at first himself had Caruthers held Spies's throw. Dalrymple lifted a little fly which the entire Grand Rapids infield tried to get and succeeded in muffing. Gray sent Motz in by a safe hit to center, on which Dalrymple, however, was caught at third by stopping to see where the ball had gone. Mills followed with a triple to right, scoring Gray, and Leidy got a base on balls, but Shields flew out to Wheelock. Grand Rapids made a strong effort in the sixth and seventh innings to pull up along-side, and succeeded in getting within one run of the tie. With two out in the sixth Gray made a bad fumble of Carroll's grounder, and this error, with singles by Caruthers, Wright and Callopy, and a base on balls by Spies, resulted in two runs. In the seventh, after two men had been retired, singles by Wheelock and Carroll, together with a wild pitch, gave the Michtogether with a wild pitch, gave the Michigan men their last run. Dalrymple dropped Callopy's long fly in the eighth, after a double play had retired Wright and Spies, but Pinckney was easily thrown out at first and no damage resulted. Watkins, who started the ninth for Grand Rapids, hit to Motz, who fumbled the ball, but threw to Cross, and the runner was called out by the umpire, evidently to even up the decision on Caruthers in the fourth inning. It looked very much as if Watkins had the base all right, but the umpire said not, to the intense disgust of Captain thought there was no further hope. Dal-rymple made a pretty catch of Killeen's fly and Motz a better one of Wheelock's and the game ended. Score: Indianapolis. A.B. R. H. O. A. E. WON BY LULU FILLY

TEN CONTESTANTS FOR THE MORRIS PARK DEBUTANTE STAKES.

Long Island Light-Weight Handicap Taken by Comanche - Results at Latonia and St. Louis.

NEW YORK, June 18 .- There was considerable excitement in the betting ring at Morris Park over the Debutante stakes, for the calculations of the talent were upset by three added horses. One of them was J. F. McDonald's Lulu filly, who was not of much account in her last race. HOTEL MEN DEFIANT.

They Will Have Another Bout with the Garbage Ordinance. The Indianapolis hotel men met last night to discuss the garbage ordinance. R. H. E. All of the hotels were represented, and a dozen restaurant proprietors joined in the general clamor against the garbage ordinance as it affects the hotels and eating houses. The meeting was held at the Occidental Hotel, and was prolonged. Those present were averse to discussing the matter for the benefit of the newspapers, and say that they are not yet pre-pared to make public the manner of war-fare which they intend to begin imme-diately against the ordinance. The landlords were unanimous in the feeling that the ordinance must be fought in the courts. They say that the rate they are compelled to pay for the removal of their garbage entails an annual expense of from $600 to $900 on every hotel in Indianapolis. The landlords make the further complaint that garbage is not removed regularly, and that in many instances the wagons used in the work are not air tight, as provided by the ordinance. One of the leading hotel men said last night: "The present system of removing garbage is very unsatisfactory. I used to re-move the offal from my tables at a great deal less expense than it costs now. There is no nuisance about the hotel garbage. There is food removed from here every day that would have been received with delight by hundreds of poor families last winter. This ordinance is infamous, and we are going into it to knock it out. There are two garbage cases to be tried in the Police Court to-day, and the hotel men propose to stand by the offenders. Until these cases are decided we don't care to say much for publication.'

Ex-Marshal Maholm's Glaim Not Allowed-Cement Walks.

At the meeting of the West Indianapolis Council last night the city attorneys to whom was referred the bill of ex-Marshal Maholm, amounting to $265, for services which he claimed the town owed him, reported that the city was not liable for payment, and the matter was referred to the committee on fees and salaries. The latter upheld the report of the attorneys, and Maholm's bill will not be paid. Treasurer Hoss reported that during his term of office the receipts amounted to $2,235.65, while the expenditures amounted to $1,-692.96, leaving balance in the treasury of $542.69. The city expects to realize, next January, $5,000 on the railroad taxation decision of the Supreme Court, and, with the $9,000 which it will receive from taxes, the treasury will once more be in good

THE WEST-ST. AFFAIR

MEETING TO DENOUNCE KING FAILED TO MATERIALIZE.

O'Neil, the Wounded Man, Will Recover - Patrolman Kurtz Also Fights with a Prisoner.

It was reported that a meeting would be held at a hall on South West street last night by citizens who would draw up strong resolutions condemning King's action in shooting Jerry O'Neil Sunday night, but the meeting failed to materialize. However, the feeling is none too favorable for King, and a few of the hot heads are quietly intimating that if the opportunity ever shows itself, they will fix

The police are attempting to secure the tacked King with the view of arresting them. Late last night the police had made no arrests. The citizens in the neighborhood are keeping very quiet, and to all questioners profess the greatest ignorance of the affair.

O'Neil will recover, so says Dr. Eisenbeiss, the atending physician. The doctor saw his patient late last night, and though he was very weak, he believed O'Netl would come around all right.

King remained at the police station until yesterday, morning. By order of the Board of Public Safety a warrant was sworn out by one of the officers charging King with assault and battery with intent to kill. This was done simply as a formality prior to a close investigation of the affair. King's bond was placed at $1,000 and he was bailed out by W. W. Herod.

PATROLMAN KURTZ'S FIGHT.

He Has a Struggle with a Drunken Man on South West Street.

Robert Moore entered Daniel Lenahan's saloon, No. 44 South West street, yesterday afternoon and asked a man standing near the bar to buy him a drink. The man refused and left the saloon. Moore immediately began to call the man vile names after the latter was out of fighting distance. The bartender ordered Moore to leave the place, and Moore then turned his wrath towards the bartender, calling him the most obscene names. Just then patrolman Kurtz was seen approaching the saloon, and Moore said to the bartender, "You see that 'cop' coming? Well, you want me to leave, don't you? I'll give you a pointer that you and that d-n-d 'cop' and the whole police force couldn't throw me out." Patrolman Kurtz stepped into the saloon at this moment, and seeing that trouble was at hand inquired the cause. The hertender explained and Kurtz cause. The bartender explained and Kurtz ordered Moore to leave the saloon, but the fellow replied in insulting language and said he proposed to remain where he was. Kurtz then took hold of his arm and started to "alk towards the door. Moore swung vicio sly with his fist at Kurtz, but missed him. The policeman by main force dragged his man to the door, but the latter quickly caught hold of the door and slammed it shut in such a manner that the glass was broken. Kurtz was taken unawares and fell against the other side of the door, crushing through the glass, although he still kept his hold on Moore. Recovering himself, he hit Moore on the head with his mace and subdued him. When the patrol wagon arrived Moore grew violent and was tapped several more times with the mace. On the road to the police station he called patrolmen Wheeler and Mathey vile names and made such outcries that the two drew their maces and struck Moore until he quieted down.

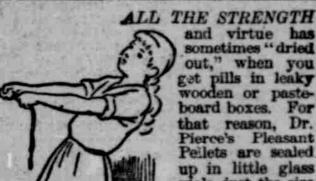

At the police station Moore was slated on charges of drunkenness, disturbing the peace and resisting an officer. Heretofore only one officer has patrolled that district, the thirteenth, at night, but owing to the feeling existing against the police Superintendent Powell ordered two officers to patrol the district. The Auditor feels somewhat elated over the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, which holds that the Lloyds and all individual underwriters are subject to State insurance laws and supervision, the same as incorporated com-panies. The suit on which the decision was made was appealed from the Ohio Su-preme Court by the men ranning the Guarantee Lloyds, who were interfered with by the Insurance Commissioner of that State.
